In the physical realm, a sidewalk's end often marks the boundary between pedestrian areas and other land uses such as private property, natural landscapes, or undeveloped land. These limits are carefully designed elements within urban planning, serving both functional and aesthetic purposes.

Typical Scenarios Where Sidewalks End:

Designers and city planners often employ visual cues to indicate where a sidewalk ends:

- Change in Material: Transition from concrete to gravel or dirt.
- Variation in Elevation: Steps or slopes marking the boundary.
